Courteous Reader, There was no Argument at first intended to the Book; but for the satisfaction of many that have desired it, is procured. S. Simmons.

THE

ARGUMENT:

Of the

FIRST BOOK.

He first Book proposes first in brief the whole Subject, Mans disobedience, and the loss thereupon of Paradise wherein he was plac't: Then touches the prime cause of his fall, the Serpent, or rather Satan in the Serpent; who revolting from God, and drawing to his side many Legions of Angels, was by the command of God driven out of Heaven with all his Crew into the great Deep. Which action past over, the Poem hasts into the midst of things, presenting Satan with his Angels now sallen into Hell, described here, not in the Center (for Heaven and Earth may be supposed as yet not made, certainly not yet accurst) but in a place of utter darknesse, sittless called Chaos: Here Satan with his Angels lying on the hurning Lake, thunderstruck and associately up him bim who next in Order and Dignity lay by him : they confer of thir miserable fall. Satan awakens all his Legions, who lay till then in the same manner confounded & They rife, thir Numbers, array of Battel, thir chief Lead. ers nam'd, according to the Idols known afterwards in Canaan and the Countries adjoyning. To thefe Satan directs bis Speech, comforts them with hope yet of regaining Heaven, but tells them lastly of a new World and new kind of Creature to be created, according to an an. cient Prophesie or report in Heaven 3 for that Angels were long before this visible Creation, was the o. pinion of many ancient Fathers. To find out the truth of this Prophesie, and what to determin thereon berefers to a full Councell. What his Affociates thence attempt. Pandemonium the Palace of Satan rifes, (uddenly built out of the Deep: The infernal Peers there fit in Counfel.

SECOND BOOK

The Consultation begun, Satan debates whether another Battel be to be hazarded for the recovery of Heaven: some advise it, others distuade: A third proposal is preser'd, mention'd before by Satan, to search the truth of that Prophesie or Tradition in Heaven concerning another world and another kind of creature equall or not much inferiour to themselves about this time to be created: Thir doubt who shall be sent on this difficult search: Satan thir chief undertakes alone the voyage.

is bonourd and applauded. The Councel thus ended, the rest betake them several wayes & to several imployments, as thir inclinations lead them, to entertain the time till Satan return. He passes on his Journey to Hell Gates, finds them shut, and who sat there to guard them, by whom at length they are opind, and discover to him the great Gulf between Hell and Heaven; with what difficulty he passes through, directed by Chaos, the Power of that place, to the sight of this new World which be sought.

Of the

THIRD BOOK

Od fitting on his Throne fees Satan flying towards Ithis world, then newly created; shews him to the Son who fat at his right hand; foretells the success of Satan in perverting mankind; clears his own Justice and VVifdom from all imputation, baving created Man free and able enough to have with food his Tempter 4 yet declares his purpose of grace towards him, in regard be fell not of his own malice, as did Satan, but by him feduct. The Sonof God renders praises to bis Father for the manife-Station of his gracious purpose towards Man ; but God again declares, that Grace cannot be extended towards Man without the satisfaction of divine Justice ; Man bath offended the majesty of God by aspiring to Godhead, and therefore with all his Progeny devoted to death mult dye, unless some one can be found sufficient to answer for his offence, and undergoe his Tunishment. The Son of God freely offers himself a Ransome for Man: 1be Father .

ther accepts him, ordains his incarnation, pronounces his exaltation above all Names in Reaven and Earth : commands all the Angels to adore bim ; they obey. and bymning to thir Harps in full Quire, celebrate the Father and the Son. Mean while Satan alights upon the bare convex of this Worlds outermost Orb ; where wandring be first finds a place since call'd The Lymbo of Vanity; what persons and things fly up thither ; thence comes to the Gate of Heaven, describ'd ascending by stairs, and the waters above the Firmament that flow about it : His passage thence to the Orb of the Sun; he finds there Uriel the Regent of that Orb but first changes himself into the shape of a meaner Angel? and pretending a zealous defire to behold the new Creation and Man whom God had plac't here, inquires of him the place of his babitation, and is directed; alights first on Mount Niphates.

Of the FOURTH BOOK.

Satan now in prospect of Eden, and nigh the place where he must now attempt the hold enterprize which he undertook alone against God and Man, falls into many doubts with himself, and many possions, fear, envy, and despare; but at length consirms himself in evil. journeys on to Paradise, whose outward prospect and scituation is described, overleaps the bounds, sits in the shape of a cormorant on the Tree of life, as highest in the Garden to look about him. The Garden described; Satans sirst light fight of Adam and Eve; bis wonder at thir excellent form and bappy flate, but with refolation to work thir fall ; overbear a thir discourse, thence gathers that the Tree of knowledge was forbidden them to eat of , under penalty of death; and thereon intends to found his temptation, by seducing them to transgress: then leaves them a while, to know further of thir state by some other means. Mean while Uriel descending on a Sun-beam warms Gabriet, who had in charge the Gate of Paradife, that fome evil spirit had escap'd the Deep, and past at Noon by his Sphere in the shape of a good Angel down to Paradife, difcovered after by his furious gestures in the Mount. Gabriel pramifes to find him out ere morning. Night coming on, Adam and Eve discourse of going to thir rest : thir Bower describ'd ; thir Evening worship. Gabriel drawing forth bis Bands of Night-watch to walk the round of Paradife, appoints two ftrong Angels to Adams Bower, least the evill spirit should be there doing some harm to Adam or Eve Sleeping ; there they find him at the ear of Eve, tempting her in a dream, and bring him, though unwilling, to Gabriel; by whom question'd, be scornfully answers, preparesresistance, but hinder'd by a Sign from Heaven, flies out of Paradife.

FIFTH BOOK.

Morning approach's, Eve relates to Adam her tronblefome dream; he likes it not, yet comforts her: They come forth to thir day labours: Thir Morning Hymn at the Door of thir Bower, God to render Man inexcusable sends Raphael to admonish him of his obedience, of his free estate, of his enemy near at hand; who he is, and why his enemy, and whatever elfe may avail Adam to know. Raphael comes down to Paradife. bis appearance describ'd, bis coming distern'd by Adam afar off fitting at the door of his Bower ; be goes out to meet him, brings him to his lodge, entertains him with the choycest fruits of Paradise got together by Eve ; thir discourse at Table : Raphael performs bis message minds Adam of his state and of his enemy ; relates at Adams request who that enemy is, and how he came to be fo beginning from bis first revolt in Heaven, and the occasion thereof; how be drew his Legions after him to the parts of the North, and there incited them to rebel with him. perswading all but only Abdiel a Seraph, who in Argument dissuades and opposes him, then forsakes him.

Of the

SIXTH BOOK.

Aphael continues to relate how Michael and Gabriel were fent forth to Battel against Satan and his Angels. The first Fight described: Satan and his Powers retire under Night: He calls a Councel, invents devilish Engines, which in the second dayes Fight put Michael and his Angels to some disorder; but they at length pulling up Mountains averwhelmed both the force and Machine of Satan. Tet the Tumuk not so ending, God on the third day sends McMah his Son, for whom he had reserved the glory of that Victory t Hee in the Power of his Father coming to the place, and causing all his Legions to stand still on either side, with his Chariot and Thunder driwing into the miast of his Enemies, pursues them unable to resist towards the wall of Heaven; which opening, they leap down with horrowr and consustion into the place of punishment prepared for them in the Deep: Mcsiah returns with triumph to his Father.

Of the

SEAVENTH BOOK.

RAphael at the request of Adam relates how and wherefore this World was first created 3 that God, after the expelling of Satan and his Angels out of Heaven, declar'd his pleasure to create another World and other Creatures to dwell therein ; fends bir Son with Glory and attendance of Angels to perform the work of Creation in fix dayes: the Angels celebrate with Hymns the performance thereof, and his reascention into Heaven. Adam then inquires concerning celestial Motions, is doubtfully answer'd, and exhorted to fearch rather things more worthy of knowledg: Adam affents, and still defirous to detain Raphael, relates to bim what be remember'd fince his own Creation, his placing in Paradife, bis talk with God concerning solitude and fit society, bis first meeting and Nuptials with Eve, bis discourse with the Angel thereupon ; who after admonitions repeated departs.

Of the

EIGHTH BOOK.

C'Atan baving compast the Earth, with meditated Iguile returns as a mift by Night into Paradife, enters into the Serpent fleeping. Adam and Eve in the Morning go forth to thir labours, which Eve proposes to divide in several places, each labouring apart: Adam consents not, alledging the danger . left that Enemy, of whom they were forewarn'd, should attempt her found alone : Eve loath to be thought not circum/pect or firm enough, urges her going apart, the rather de firons to make tryal of ber ftrength; Adam at last yields : The Serpent finds ber alone ; his subtle approach, first gazing, then speaking, with much flattery extolling Eve above all other Creatures. Eve wondring to bear the Serpent Speak asks how he attain'd to human speech and such understanding not till now; the Serpent answers, that by tasting of a certain Tree in the Garden be attain'd both to Speech and Reason, till then viid of both : Eve requires bim to bring her to that Tree, and finds it to be the Tree of Knowledge forbidden : The Serpent now grown bolder. with many wiles and arguments induces her at length to eat; she pleas'd with the taste deliberates a while whether to impart thereof to Adam or not, at last brings him of the Fruit, relates what perswaded ber to eat thereof : Adam at first amaz'd, but perceiving her lost, resolves through vehemence of love to perift with her; and extesuating the trespass, eats also of the Fruit : The Effects thereof thereof in them both 3 they seek to cover thir nakedness 3 then fall to variance and accusation of one another.

NINTH BOOK.

le

A Ans transgression known, the Guardian Angels IVA forfake Paradife, and return up to Heaven to approve thir vigilance, and are approved, God declaring that the entrance of Satan could not be by them prevent-He sends his Son to judge the Transgressors, who descends and gives Sentence accordingly ; then in pity cloaths them both, and reascends. Sin and Death fitting till then at the Gates of Hell, by wondrous fympathie feeling the success of Satan in this new World, and the fin by Man there committed, resolve to fit no longer confin'd in Hell, but to follow Satan thir Sire up to the place of Man : To make the may easier from Hell to this World to and fro, they pave a broad Highmay or Bridge over Chaos, according to the Track that Satan first made; then preparing for Earth, they meet him proud of his success returning to Hell ; thir mutual gratulation, Satan arrives at Pandemonium, in full affembly relates with boasting bis success against Man ; instead of applanse is entertained with a general his by all his audience, transform'd with himself also suddenly into Serpents, according to bis doom giv'n in Paradife ; then deluded with a shew of the forbidden Tree springing up before them, they greedily reaching to take of the Fruit, chem chew dust and bitter ashes. The proceedings of Sia and Death's, God foretels the sinst Victory of his son over them, and the renewing of all things; but for the present commands his Angels to make several alterations in the Heavens and Elements. Adam more and more perceiving his fall in condition beavily bewailes, rejects the condolement of Eve; the persists and at length appeales him: Theat to evide the Curso likely to fall on thir Of. spring, proposes to Adam violent wayes which he approves not, hut conceiving better hope, puts her in mind of the late Promise made them, that her seed should be revenged on the Sarpent, and exhouts her with him to seek Reace of the offended Deity, by repentance and supplication.

TENTH BOOK

The son of God presents to his Pather the Property of our first Parents now repeating, and intercedes for them: God accepts them, but declares that they must no longer abide in Paradise; sends Michael with a Band of Chernhim to disposses them; but first to reveal to Adam sature things: Michaels coming down. Adam shows to Eve certain administings; he discerns Michaels approach, goes out to meet him: the Angel denounces thir departure. Eve's Lamentation. Adam pleads, but submits: The Angel leads him up to a high Hill, sets before him in vision what shall hopp's till the Flood; thence from the Flood relates, and by degrees explains, who that Seed of the Woman shall be; his Incarnation, Desth Resurrection, and Ascention; the state of the Church till his second Coming. Adam greatly satisfied and recomforted by these Relations and Promises descends the Hill with Michael; wakens Eve, who all this while had stept, but with gentle dreams composed to quietness of wind and submission. Michael in either hand leads them out of Paradise, the stery sword waving behind them, and the Cherubin taking thir Stations to guard the Place.

THE VERSE.

He Measure is English Heroic Verse without Rime, as that of Homer in Greek, and of Virgil in Latin; Rime being no necessary Adjunct or true Ornament of Poem or good Verse, in longer Works especially, but the Invention of a barbarous Age, to set off wretched matter and lame Meeter; grac't indeed since by the use of some famous modern Poets, carried away by Custom, but much to thir own vexation, hindrance, and constraint to express many things otherwise, and for the most part worse then else they would have exprest them. Not without cause therefore fome both Italian and Spanish Poets of prime note have rejected Rime both in in longer and shorter Works, as have also long since our best English Tragedies, as athing of it felf, to all judicious eares, triveal and of no true musical delight; which confifts only in apt Numbers, fit quantity of Syllables, and the sense variously drawn out from one Verseinto another, not in the jingling found of like endings, a fault avoyded by the learned Ancients both in Poetry and all good Oratory. This neglect then of Rime so little is to be taken for a defect, though it may feem so perhaps to vulgar Readers, that it rather is to be efteem'd an example set, the first in English, of ancient liberty recover'd to Heroic Poem from the trouble form and modern bondage of Rimeing.

The Verfe.

Wav'd round the Coast, up call'd a pitchy cloud

Wav'd round the Coalt, up call'd a pitchy cloud Of Locustr, warping on the Eastern Wind, That ore the Realm of impious Pharaob hung Like Night, and darken'd all the Land of Nile: So numberless were those bad Angels seen Hovering on wing under the Cope of Hell Twixt upper, nether, and surrounding Fires; Till, as a signal giv'n, th' uplifted Spear Of their great Sultan waving to direct Thir course, in even ballance down they light On the firm brimstone, and fill all the Plain;

A multitude, like which the populous North Pour'd never from her frozen loyns, to pass Rhene or the Danaw, when her barbarous Sons Came like a Deluge on the South, and spread Beneath Sibraltar to the Lybian sands.

Forthwith from every Squadron and each Band The Heads and Leaders thither hast where stood Their great Commander; Godlike shapes and forms Excelling human, Princely Dignities,

And Powers that earst in Heaven sat on Thrones;
Though of their Names in heavinly Records now
Be no memorial, blotted out and rasid
By thir Rebellion, from the Books of Life.
Not had they yet among the Sons of Eve
Got their new Names, till wanding ore the Earth,
Through Gods high sufference for the tryal of man,

By fallities and lyes the greatest part Of Mankind they corrupted to forfake God their Crestor, and th' invisible Glory of him, that made them, to transform 370 Oft to the Image of a Brute, adorn'd With gay Religions full of Pomp and Gold, And Devils to adore for Deities : Then were they known to men by various Names, And various Idols through the Heathen World. Say, Muse, their Names then known, who first, who Rous'd from the Cumber, on that fiery Couch, (laft, At thir great Emperors call, as next in worth Came fingly where he stood on the bare strand, While the promiscuous croud stood yet aloof? 380 The chief were those who from the Pit of Hell Roaming to feek their prey on earth, durft fix Their Seats long after next the Seat of God, Their Altars by his Altar, Gods ador'd Among the Nations round, and durft abide Tebovah thundring out of sion, thron'd Between the Cherubin ; yea, often plac'd Within his Sanctuary it felf their Shrines, Abominations 5 and with curfed things His holy Rites, and solemn Feasts profan'd, 390 And with their darkness durst affront his light. First Moloch, horrid King befmear'd with blood Of human facrifice, and parents tears, Though for the noyfe of Drums and Timbrels loud Their childrens cries unheard, that past through fire To his grim Idol. Him the Ammonite Worshipt in Rabba and her watry Plain, In Argob and in Bafan, to the ffream

Of utmost Arnon. Nor content with such Audacious neighbourhood, the wifest heart Of solomon he led by fraud to build His Temple right against the Temple of God On that opprobrious Hill, and made his Grove The pleasant Vally of Hinnom, Tophet thence And black Gebenna call'd, the Type of Hell. Next Chemos, th' obscene dread of Moabs Sons, From After to Nebo, and the wild Of Southmost Abarim ; in Hesebon And Heronaim, Seons Realm, beyond 410 The flowry Dale of Sibma clad with Vines, And Eleale to th' Asphaltick Pool. Pear his other Name, when he entic'd Israel in Sittim on their march from Nile To do him wanton rites, which cost them woe. Yet thence his lustful Orgies he enlarg'd Even to that Hill of scandal, by the Grove Of Moloch homicide, lust hard by hate; Till good Josiah drove them thence to Hell. With the fecame they, who from the bordring flood Of old Euthrates to the Brook that parts Eggpt from Syrian ground, had general Names Of Baalim and Ashtaroth, those male, These Feminine. For Spirits when they please Can either Sex assume, or both ; fo foft And uncompounded is their Essence pure, Not ti'd or manacl'd with joynt or limb, Nor founded on the brittle strength of bones, Like cumbrous fleth, but in what thope they choose Dilated or condens't, bright or obleure,

For those the Race of Israel oft forlook Their fiving strength, and unfrequented left His righteous Altar, bowing lowly down To bestial Gods ; for which their heads as low Bow'd down in Battel, funk before the Spear Of despicable foes. With these in troop Came Aftereth, whom the Phanicians call'd Aftarte, Queen of Heav'n, with crescent Horns ; To whose bright Image nightly by the Moon 440 Sidonian Virgins paid their Vows and Songs, In Sion also not unfung, where stood Her Temple on th' offensive Mountain, built By that uxorious King, whose heart though large, Beguil'd by fair Idolatresses, fell To Idols foul. Thammuz came next behind. Whose annual wound in Lebanon allur'd . The Syrian Damsels to lament his fate In amorous dittyes all a Summers day, While smooth Adonis from his native Rock 450 Ran purple to the Sea, suppos'd with blood Of Thammuz yearly wounded : the Love-tale Infected sions daughters with like heat, Whose wanton passions in the sacred Porch. And downward Fish : yet had his Temple high Rear'd in Azotus, dreaded through the Coast Of Palestine, in Gath and Ascalon, And Accaron and Gaza's frontier bounds. Him follow'd Rimmon, whose delightful Seat Was fair Damaseus, on the fertil Banks Of Abbana and Pharphar, lucid streams.

He also against the house of God was bold: A Leper once he loft and gain'd a King, Ahaz his fottish Conquerour, whom he drew Gods Altar to disparage and displace For one of Syrian mode, whereon to burn His odious offrings, and adore the Gods Whom he had vanquisht. After these appear'd A crew who under Names of old Renown, Ofiris, Ifie, Orus and their Train With monstrous shapes and sorceries abus'd

480 Fanatic Egypt and her Priests, to feek Thir wandring Gods difguis'd in brutish forms Rather then human. Nor did Israel scape Th' infection when their borrow'd Gold compos'd The Calf in Orch: and the Rebel King Doubl'd that fin in Bethel and in Dan, Lik'ning his Maker to the Grazed Ox, Tebovab, who in one Night when he pass'd From Egypt marching, equal'd with one stroke Both her first born and all her bleating Gods. Long after, now unpeopl'd, and untrod; All this dark Globe the Fiend found as he pass'd, And long he wanderd, till at last a gleame Of dawning light turnd thither-ward in hafte 500 His travell'd steps; farr distant hee descries Ascending by degrees magnificent Up to the wall of Heaven a Structure high, At top whereof, but farr more rich appeard The work as of a Kingly Palace Gate With Frontispice of Diamond and Gold Imbellisht, thick with sparkling orient Gemmes The Portal shon, inimitable on Earth By Model, or by shading Pencil drawn. The Stairs were fuch as whereon Jacob faw 510 Angels afcending and descending, bands Of Guardians bright, when he from Efan fled To Padan-Aram in the field of Luz, Dreaming by night under the open Skie, And waking cri'd, This is the Gate of Heav'n. Each Stair mysteriously was meant, nor stood There alwaies, but drawn up to Heav'n somtimes Viewless, and underneath a bright Sea flow'd Of Jasper, or of liquid Pearle, whereon Who after came from Earth, fayling arriv'd. 520 Wafted by Angels, or flew o're the Lake Rapt in a Chariot drawn by fiery Steeds... The Stairs were then let down, whether to dare The Fiend by easie ascent, or aggravate His fad exclusion from the dores of Blifs. Direct against which op'nd from beneath. Just o're the blissful feat of Paradife, A passage down to th' Earth, a passage wide, Wider

Wider by farr then that of after-times

Over Mount Sion, and, though that were large,
Over the Promis'd Land to God so dear,
By which, to visit oft those happy Tribes,
On high behests his Angels to and fro
Pass'd frequent, and his eye with choice regard
From Paness the fount of Jordans flood
To Beersaba, where the Holy Land
Borders on Ægypt and the Arabian shoare;
So wide the opining seemd, where bounds were set
To darkness, such as bound the Ocean wave.

Satan from hence now on the lower stair
That scal'd by steps of Gold to Heav'n Gate
Looks down with wonder at the sudden view
Of all this World at once. As when a Scout
Through dark and desart wayes with peril gone
All night; at last by break of chearful dawne
Obtains the brow of some high-climbing Hill,
Which to his eye discovers unaware
The goodly prospect of some forein land
First feen, or some renownd Metropolis
With glistering Spires and Pinnacles adornd.

With glistering Spires and Pinnacles adornd,
Which now the Rising Sun guilds with his beams.
Such wonder seis'd, though after Heaven seen,
The Spirit maligne, but much more envy seis'd
At sight of all this World beheld so faire.
Round he surveys, and well might, where he stood
So high above the circling Canopie
Of Nights extended shade; from Eastern Point
Of Libra to the sleecie Starr that bears
Andromeda farr off Atlantick Seas
Beyond th' Horizon; then from Pole to Pole

Glad was the Spirit impure; as now in hope 640 To find who might direct his wandring flight To Paradife the happie feat of Man, His journies end and our beginning woe. But first he casts to change his proper shape, Which elfe might work him danger or delay : And now a stripling Cherube he appeers, Not of the prime, yet fuch as in his face Youth smil'd Celestial, and to every Limb Sutable grace diffus'd, so well he feignd ; Under a Coronet his flowing haire 650 Incurles on either cheek plaid, wings he wore Of many a colourd plume sprinkl'd with Gold, His habit fit for speed succinct, and held Before his decent steps a Silver wand. He drew not nigh unheard, the Angel bright. Ere he drew nigh, his radiant vilage turnd, Admonish by his eare, and strait was known Th' Arch-Angel Uriel, one of the feav'n Who in Gods presence, neerest to his Throne 660 Stand ready at command, and are his Eyes That run through all the Heav'ns, or down to th' Bear his swift errands over moist and dry, (Earth O're Sea and Land : him Satan thus accostes. Upon himself; horror and doubt distract
His troubl'd thoughts, and from the bottom stirr
The Hell within him, for within him Hell
He brings, and round about him, nor from Hell
One step no more then from himself can fly
By change of place. Now conscience wakes despair
That slumberd, wakes the bitter memorie
Of what he was, what is, and what must be Worse; of worse deeds worse sufferings must ensue.
Sometimes towards Eden which now in his view
Lay pleasant, his grieved look he fixes sad, (Sun,
Sometimes towards Heav'n and the full-blazing
Which now sat high in his Meridian Towre:
Then much revolving, thus in sighs began.

O thou that with furpaffing Glory crownd Look'ft from thy fole Dominion like the God Of this new World; at whose fight all the Starrs Hide thir diminisht heads 4 to thee I call, But with no friendly voice, and add thy name O Sun, to tell thee how I hate thy beams die! That bring to my remembrance from what flate I fell, how glorious once above the Spheire Till Pride and worse Ambition threw me down Warring in Heav'n against Heav'ns matchles King: Ah wherefore! he deferve no fach rerain ? [on] From me, whom he created what I was Approved T In that bright eminence, and with his good 11.0 Upbraided none; nor was his fervice hard. What could be less then to afford him praise, The easiest recompence, and pay him thanks, How due! yet all his good prov'd ill in me,

And wrought but malice; lifted up fo high

I fdeind subjection, and thought one step higher. Would fet me highest, and in a moment quit The debt immense of endless gratitude, So burthensome, still paying, still to ow 3 Forgetful what from him I still received, And understood not that a grateful mind By owing owes not, but still pays, at once Indebted and discharges what burden then? O had his powerful Destiny ordaind Me fome inferiour Angel, I had flood Then happie; no unbounded hope had rais'd 60 Ambition. Yet why not? fom other Power As great might have afpir'd, and me though mean Drawn to his part; but other Powers as great Fell not, but stand unshak'n, from within Or from without, to all temptations arm'd. Hadft thou the fame free Will and Power to ftand? Thou hadft: whom baft thou then or what to ac-But Heav'ns free Love dealt equally to all? (cufe, Be then his Love accurft, fince love or hate, To me alike, it deals eternal woe. 70 Nay curs'd be thou; fince against his thy will Chose freely what it now so justly rues. Me miserable! which way shall I flie Infinite wrauth, and infinite despaire? Which way I flie is Hell; my felf am Hell; And in the lowest deep a lower deep Still threatning to devour me opens wide. To which the Hell I suffer seems a Heav'n. O then at last relent: is there no place Left for Repentance, none for Pardon left? 80 None left but by Submission 5 and that word Disdain

Difdain forbids me, and my dread of shame Among the Spirits beneath, whom I seduc'd With other promises and other vaunts Then to submit, boasting I could subdue Th' Omnipotent. Ay me, they little know How dearly I abide that boast so vaine, Under what torments inwardly I groane: While they adore me on the Throne of Hell, With Diadem and Scepter high advanc't

With Diadem and Scepter high advanc't
The lower still I fall, onely supream
In miserie; such joy Ambition findes.
But say I could repent and could obtaine
By Act of Grace my former state; how soon
Would highth recal high thoughts, how soon unsay
What seign'd submission swore: ease would recent Vows made in pain, as violent and void.
For never can true reconcilement grow (deep:
Where wounds of deadly hate have peire'd so

Which would but lead me to a worfe relapfe,
And heavier fall: so should I purchase deare
Short intermission bought with double smart.
This knows my punisher; therefore as farr
From granting hee, as I from begging peace:
All hope excluded thus, behold in stead
Of us out-cast, exist, his new delight,
Mankind created, and for him this World.
So farwel Hope, and with Hope farwel Fear,
Farwel Remorse: all Good to me is lost;

Light the thous my Good a by thee at least

Divided Empire with Heav'ns King I hold
By thee, and more then half perhaps will reigne;
As Manere long, and this new World thall know.

Thus while he spake, each passion dimm'd his face Thrice chang'd with pale, ire, envie and despair, Which marrd his borrow'd visage, and betraid Him counterfet, if any eye beheld. For heav'nly mindes from fuch distempers foule Are ever cleer. Whereof hee foon aware, Each perturbation smooth'd with outward calme, Artificer of fraud ; and was the first That practisd fallhood under faintly flew, Deep malice to conceale, couch't with revenge: Yet not anough had practisd to deceive Vriel once warnd ; whose eye pursu'd him down The way he went, and on th' Affyrian mount Saw him disfigur'd, more then could befall Spirit of happie fort: his gestures fierce He markd and mad demeanour, then alone, 130 As he suppos'd, all unobserv'd, unseen. So on he fares, and to the border comes Of Eden, where delicious Paradife, Now nearer, Crowns with her enclosure green, As with a rural mound the champain head Of a steep wilderness, whose hairie sides With thicket overgrown, grottefque and wilde, Access deni'd; and over bead up grew Insuperable highth of loftiest shade, Cedar, and Pine, and Firr, and branching Palm, A Silvan Scene, and as the ranks afcend 140 Shade above shade, a woodie Theatre Of stateliest view. When God hath showrd the earth; so lovely seemd
That Lantskip: And of pure now purer aire
Meets his approach, and to the heart inspires
Vernal delight and joy, able to drive

Conspicuous farr, winding with one ascent Accessible from Earth, one entrance high;

The rest was craggie cliff, that overhung Still as it rose, impossible to climbe.

Betwixt these rockie Pillars Gabriel fat Chief of th' Angelic Guards, awaiting night;

About him exercis'd Heroic Games
Th' unarmed Youth of Heav'n, but nigh at hand

Shot forth peculiar Graces; then with voice Milde, as when Zephyrus on Flora breathes, Her hand foft touching, whisperd thus. Awake My fairest, my espous'd, my latest found, Heav'ns last best gift, my ever new delight, Awake, the morning shines, and the fresh field Calls us, we lose the prime, to mark how spring Our tended Plants, how blows the Citron Grove, What drops the Myrrhe, & what the balmie Reed, How Nature paints her colours, how the Bee Sits on the Bloom extraging liquid sweet.

Such whispering wak'd her, but with start'd eye
On Adam, whom imbracing, thus she spake.

O Sole in whom my thoughts find all repose, My Glorie, my Perfection, glad I fee Thy face, and Morn return'd, for I this Night, Such night till this I never pass'd, have dream'd, If dream'd, not as I oft am wont, of thee, Works of day pass't, or morrows next designe, But of offence and trouble, which my mind Knew nevertill this irkfom night; methought Close at mine ear one call'd me forth to walk With gentle voice, I thought it thine ; it faid, Why fleepft thou Exe? now is the pleafant time, The cool, the filent, fave where filence yields To the night-warbling Bird, that now awake Tunes sweetest his love-labor'd fong; now reignes Full Orb'd the Moon, and with more pleasing light Shadowie fets off the face of things; in vain. If none regard ; Heav'n wakes with all his eyes, Whom to behold but thee, Natures defire, In whose fight all things joy, with ravishment Attracted Attracted by thy beauty still to gaze.
I rose as at thy call, but found thee not;
To find thee I directed then my walk;

And on, methought, alone I pass'd through ways
That brought me on a sudden to the Tree
Of interdicted Knowledge; fair it seem'd,
Much fairer to my Fancie then by day:
And as I wondring lookt, beside it stood
One shap'd & wing'd like one of those from Heav'n
By us oft seen; his dewie locks distill'd
Ambrosia; on that Tree he also gaz'd;
And O fair Plant, said he, with fruit sureharg'd, Deigns none to ease thy load and taste thy sweet,
Nor God, nor Man; is Knowledge so despis'd?

Or envie, or what referve forbids to taste?
Forbid who will, none shall from me withhold
Longer thy offerd good, why else set here?
This said he paus'd not, but with ventrous Arme
He pluckt, he tasted; mee damp horror chil'd
At such bold words voucht with a deed so bold:
But he thus overjoy'd, O Fruit Divine,
Sweet of thy self, but much more sweet thus cropt,
Forbidd'n here, it seems, as onely fit

For Gods, yet able to make Gods of Men:
And why not Gods of Men, fince good, the more
Communicated, more abundant growes,
The Author not impair'd, but honourd more?
Here, happie Creature, fair Angelic Eve,
Partake thou also; happie though thou art,
Happier thou mayst be, worthier canst not be:
Taste this, and be henceforth among the Gods
Thy self a Goddes, not to Earth confind,

But

But fomtimes in the Air, as wee, fomtimes Ascend to Heav'n, by merit thine, and see What life the Gods live there, and fuch live thou. So faying, he drew nigh, and to me held, Even to my mouth of that same fruit held part Which he had pluckt; the pleafant favourie smell So quick'nd appetite, that I, methought, Could not but tafte. Forthwith up to the Clouds With him I flew, and underneath beheld The Earth outstretcht immense, a prospect wide And various: wondring at my flight and change To this high exaltation; fuddenly 90 My Guide was gon, and I, me thought, funk down, And fell afleep; but O how glad I wak'd To find this but a dream! Thus Eve her Night Related, and thus Adam answerd fad. Best Image of my felf and dearer half, The trouble of thy thoughts this night in fleep Affects me equally; nor can I like This uncouth dream, of evil sprung I fear; Yet evil whence ? in thee can harbour none, Created pure. But know that in the Soule 100 Are many leffer Faculties that ferve Reason aschief; among these Fansie next Her office holds; of all external things, Which thefive watchful Senfes reprefent, She forms Imaginations, Aerie shapes, Which Reason joyning or disjoyning, frames All what we affirm or what deny, and call Our knowledge or opinion; then retires Into her private Cell when Nature refts. Oft in her absence mimic Fansie wakes To

To imitate her ; but misjoyning shapes, Wilde work produces oft, and most in dreams, Ill matching words and deeds long past or late. Som fuch refemblances methinks I find Of our last Eevnings talk, in this thy dream, But with addition strange; yet be not fad. Evil into the mind of God or Man May come and go, fo unapprov'd, and leave No spot or blame behind: Which gives me hope That what in fleep thou didft abhorr to dream, Waking thou never wilt confent to do. Be not disheart'nd then, nor cloud those looks That wont to be more chearful and ferene Then when fair Morning first smiles on the World, And let us to our fresh imployments rife Among the Groves, the Fountains, and the Flours That open now thir choicest bosom'd smells Referve from night, and kept for thee in store.

All perfet good unmeafur'd out, descends, 400 To us for food and for delight hath caus'd The Earth to yeild; unfavourie food perhaps To spiritual Natures; only this I know, That one Celestial Father gives to all. To whom the Angel. Therefore what he gives (Whose praise be ever fung) to man in part Spiritual, may of purest Spirits be found No ingrateful food: and food alike those pure Intelligential fubstances require As doth your Rational; and both contain Within them every lower facultie 410 Of fenfe, whereby they hear, fee, smell, touch, taste, Tasting concoct, digest, assimilate, And corporeal to incorporeal turn. For know, whatever was created, needs To be fultaind and fed ; of Elements The groffer feeds the purer, earth the fea, Earth and the Sea feed Air, the Air those Fires Ethereal, and as lowest first the Moon ; Whence in her visage round those spots, unpurg'd 420 Vapours not yet into her substance turnd. Nor doth the Moon no nourishment exhale From her moist Continent to higher Orbes. Varied his bounty so with new delights,
As may compare with Heaven; and to taste
Think not I shall be nice. So down they sat,
And to thir viands fell, nor seemingly
The Angel, nor in mist, the common gloss
Of Theologians, but with keen dispatch
Of real hunger, and concoctive heate

Abdiel that fight endur'd not, where he stood Among the mightiest, bent on highest deeds, And thus his own undaunted heart explores.

O Heav'n! that such resemblance of the Highest Should yet remain, where faith and realtie Remain not; where so should not strength & might There fail where Vertue fails, or weakest prove Where boldest; though to sight unconquerable? His puissance, trusting in th' Almightie's aide, I mean to try, whose Reason I have tri'd Unsound and false; nor is it aught but just, That he who in debate of Truth hath won; Should win in Arms, in both disputes alike Victor; though brutish that contest and soule, When Reason hath to deal with force, yet so Most reason is that Reason overcome.

So pondering, and from his armed Peers Forth stepping opposite, half way he met His daring foe, at this prevention more Incens't, and thus securely him defi'd.

Proud, art thus recurely him den'd.

Proud, art thus met? thy hope was to have The highth of thy aspiring unoppos'd, (reacht The Throne of God unguarded, and his side Abandond at the terror of thy Power Or potent tongue; sool, not to think how vain Againstell'Omnipotent to rise in Arms; Who out of smallest things could without end Have rais'd incessant Armies to defeat Thy folly; or with solitarie hand Reaching beyond all limit, at one blow Unaided could have finisht thee, and whelmd

As both thir deeds compar'd this day shall prove.
To whom in brief thus Abdiel stern repli'd.
Apostat, still thou errst, nor end wilt find
Of drring, from the path of truth remote beautiful thou depray still the name

Of servirude to ferve whom God ordains, Or Nature; God and Nature bid the fame, When he who rules is worthieft, and excells Them whom he governs. This is fervitude, To serve th' unwise, or him who hath rebelld 180 Against his worthier, as thine now serve thee, Thy felf not free, but to thy felf enthrall'd; Yet leudly dar'st our ministring upbraid. Reign thou in Hell thy Kingdom, let mee ferve In Heav'n God ever bleffed, and his Divine Behests obey, worthiest to be obey'd, Yet Chains in Hell, not Realms expect: mean while From mee returnd, as erst thou saids, from flight, This greeting on thy impious Crest receive. So faying, a noble stroke he lifted high. Which hung not, but so swift with tempest feil 190 On the proud Creft of Satan, that no fight, Nor motion of fwift thought, less could his Shield Such ruin intercept: ten paces huge He back recoild; the tenth on bended knee His massie Spear upstaid; as if on Earth Winds under ground or waters forcing way Sidelong, had push't a Mountain from his feat Half funk with all his Pines. Adverse

Adverse to life : then founded, then conglob'd Like things to like; the rest to several place Disparted, and between spun out the Air, And Earth felf-ballane't on her Center hung. Let thur be Light, faid God, and forthwith Light Etherdal hift of things, quinteffence pure Sprung from the Deep, and from her Native East To journie through the airie gloom began, Sphear'd in a radiant Cloud, for yet the Sun Was not & thee in a cloudie Tabernacle Sojourn'd the while. God faw the Light was good; And light from darkness by the Hemisphere 250 Divided: Light the Day, and Darkness Night He nam'd. Thus was the first Day Eev'n and Morn: Ner palt uncelebrated, non unfung By the Celestial Quires, when Orient Light Exhaling first from Darkness they beheld a Birth-day of Heav'n and Earth; with joy and shout The hollow Universal Orb they fill'd. And touch's thir Golden Harps, & hymning prais'd God and his works, Creatour him they fung. Both when first Eevning was, and when first Morn. Again, God faid, let ther be Firmament Amid the Waters, and let it divide The Waters from the Waters ; and God made The Firmament, expanse of liquid, pure, Transparent, Elemental Air, diffus'd In circuit to the uttermost convex Of this great Rouad : partition firm and fure, The Waters underneath from those above Dividing: for as Earth, fo hee the World Built on circumfluous Waters calme, in wide CryftalOf Chaor farr remov'd, least tierce extreames
Contiguous might distemper the whole frame;
And Heav'n he nam'd the Firmament: So Eev'n
And Morning Chorus fung the second Day.

The Earth was form'd, but in the Womb as yet Of Waters, Embryon immature involv'd, Appear'd not: over all the face of Earth Main Ocean flow'd, not idle, but with warme Prolific humour foft ning all her Globe, Fermented the great Mother to conceave, Satiate with genial moisture, when God faid Be gather'd now ye Waters under Heav'n Into one place, and let dry Land appear. Immediately the Mountains huge appear

Emergent, and thir broad bare backs upheave
Into the Clouds, thir tops afcend the Skie:
So high as heav'd the tumid Hills, so low
Down sunk a hollow bottom broad and deep, 290 Capacious bed of Waters: thither they Hasted with glad precipitance, uprowld

As drops on dust conglobing from the drie;
Part rise in crystal Wall, or ridge direct,
For haste; such flight the great command impress'd
On the swift flowds: as Armies at the call
Of Trumpet (for of Armies thou hast heard)
Troop to thir Standard, so the watrie throng,
Wave rowling after Wave, where way they found,
If steep, with torrent rapture, if through Plaine,
Soft change nor with frond them Back or Hill

Soft-ebbing; nor withfrood them Rock or Hill, But they, or underground, or circuit wide WithSerpent errour wandring, found thir way,

And

And on the wathie Oofe deep Channels wore 3 Easie, e're God had bid the ground be drie, All but within those banks, where Rivers now Stream, and perpetual draw thir humid traine. The dry Land, Earth, and the great receptacle Of congregated Waters he call'd Seas ! And faw that it was good, and faid, Let th' Earth Put forth the verdant Grafs, Herb yeilding Seed, 310 And Fruit Tree yeilding Fruit after her kind ; Whole Seed is in her felf upon the Earth. He fearce had faid; when the bare Earth, till then Defert and bare, unfightly, unadorn'd, Brought forth the tender Grafs, whose verdure clad Her Universal Face with pleasant green, Then Herbs of every leaf, that fudden flour'd Op'ning thir various colours, and made gay Her bosom smelling sweet: and these scarce blown, Forth flourish't thick the clustring Vine, forth crept The finelling Gourd, up flood the cornie Reed Embattell'd in her field : add the humble Shrub, And Bufh with frizl'd hair implicit : laft Rofe as in Dance the Stately Trees, and Spred Thir branches hung with copious Fruitsor gemm'd Thir Blofforns: with high Woods the Hills were With tufts the vallies &ceach fountain lide, (grownd, With borders long the Rivers. That Earth now Seemd like to Heav'n, a feat where Gods might Or wander with delight, and love to haunt (dwell, 330 Her facred shades : though God had yet not rain'd Upon the Earth, and man to till the ground None was, but from the Earth a dewie Mift Went up and waterd all the ground, and each Plant A a 2

Plant of the field, which e're it was in the Earth God made, and every Herb, before it grew On the green fremm; God faw that it was good; So Eev'n and Morn recorded the Third Day.

Again th' Almightie spake: Let there be Lights
High in th' expanse of Heaven to divide
The Day from Night; and let them be for Signes,
For Seasons, and for Dayes, and circling Years,
And let them be for Lights as I ordaine
Thir Office in the Firmament of Heaving?
To give Light on the Earth's and it was so.
And God made two great Lights, great for thir use
To Man, the greater to have rule by Day,
The less by Night alterned and made the Starrs,
And fet them in the Firmament of Heavin
To illuminate the Earth, and rule the Day

In thir viciflitude, and rule the Night,
And Light from Darkness to divide. God saw,
Surveying his great Work, that it was good:
For of Celestial Bodies first the Sun
A mightie Spheare he fram'd, unlight som first,
Though of Ethereal Mould: then form'd the Moon
Globose, and everie magnitude of Starrs,
And sowd with Starrs the Heav'n thick as a field:
Of Light by farr the greater part he took,

Transplanted from her cloudie Shrine, and plac'd
In the Suns Orb, made porous to receive and
And drink the liquid Light, firm to retaine
Her gather'd beams, great Palace now of Light.
Hither as to thir Fountain other Starrs
Repairing, in thir gold'n Urns draw Light,
And hence the Morning Planet guilds his horns;

As Reapers oft are wont thir Harvest Queen.
Great joy he promis'd to his thoughts, and new Solace in her return, so long delay'd;
Yet oft his heart, divine of somthing ill,
Misgave him; hee the faultring measure felt;

And

And torth to meet her went, the way she took
That Morn when first they parted; by the Tree
Of Knowledge he must pass, there he her met,
Scarse from the Tree returning; in her hand
A bough of fairest fruit that downie smil'd,
New gatherd, and ambrosial smell diffus'd.
To him she hasted, in her face excuse
Came Prologue, and Apologie to prompt,
Which with bland words at will she thus addrest.

O glorious trial of exceeding Love,
Illustrious evidence, example high!
Ingaging me to emulate, but short
Of thy perfection, how shall I attaine,
Adam, from whose deare side I boast me sprung,
And gladly of our Union heare thee speak,
One Heart, one Soul in both; whereof good prooff
This day affords, declaring thee resolvd,
Rather then Death or aught then Death more dread
Shall separate us, linkt in Love so deare,
To undergoe with mee one Guilt, one Crime,
If any be, of tasting this fair Fruit,
Whose vertue, for of good still good proceeds,
Direct, or by occasion hath presented

Love was not in thir looks, either to God
Or to each other, but apparent guilt,
And stame, and perturbation, and despaire,
Anger, and obstinacie, and hate, and guile.
Whence Adam faultring long, thus answer'd brief.
I heard thee in the Garden, and of thy voice.
Affraid, being naked, hid my self. To whom

The gracious Judge without revile repli'd.

My voice thou oft hast heard, and hast not fear'd,
But still rejoyc't; how is it now become So dreadful to thee? that thou art maked, who Hath fold thee? hast thou eaten of the Tree
Whereof I gave thee charge thou shouldst not eat?

To whom thus Adam fore befet repli'd.

O Heav'n! in evil strait this day I stand

Before my Judge, either to undergoe

My felf the total Crime, or to accuse

My other felf, the partner of my sife;

Whose failing, while her Faith to me remaines,

I should conceal, and not expose to blame

By my complaint; but strict necessitie

Subdues me, and calamitous constraint,

Least on my head both sin and punishment,

However insupportable, be all

Devolv'd; though should I hold my peace, yet thou

Wouldst easily detect what I conceale.

This Woman whom thou mad'st to be my help,

And gav'st me as thy perfet gift, so good,

So fit, so acceptable, so Divine,

That from her hand I could suspect no ill,
And what she did, whatever in it felf,
Her doing seem'd to justifie the deed 5

Shee

Shee gave me of the Tree, and I did eate. To whom the fovran Presence thus repli'd. Was thee thy God, that her thou didft obey Before his voice, or was shee made thy guide, Superior, or but equal, that to her Thou did'it religne thy Manhood, and the Place Wherein God fet thee above her made of thee, And for thee, whose perfection farr excell'd 150 Hers in all real dignitie: Adornd She was indeed, and lovely to attract Thy Love, not thy Subjection, and her Gifts Were such as under Government well seem'd, Unfeemly to beare rule, which was thy part And person, had it thou known thy self aright. So having faid, he thus to Eve in few : Say Woman, what is this which thou hast done? To whom and Eve with thame nigh overwhelm'd. Confessing soon, yet not before her Judge 160 Bold or loquacious, thus abalht repli'd. The Serpent me beguil'd and I did eate. Which when the Lord God heard, without delay To Judgement he proceeded on th' accus'd Serpent though brute, unable to transferre The Guilt on him who made him instrument Of mischief, and polluted from the end Of his Creation ; justly then accurat, As vitiated in Nature: more to know Concern'd not Man (fince he no further knew) Nor alter'd his offence; yet God at last To Satan first in fin his doom apply'd, Though in mysterious terms, judg'd as then best: And on the Serpent thus his curse let fall. Because

Because thou hast done this, thou art accurst
Above all Cattel, each Beast of the Field;
Upon thy Belly groveling thou shalt goe,
And dust shalt eat all the days of thy Life.
Between Thee and the Woman I will put Enmitie, and between thine and her Seed;
Her Seed shall bruise thy head, thou bruise his heel.

So spake this Oracle, then verifi'd
When Jefus son of Mary second Eve,
Saw Satan fall like Lightning down from Heav'n,
Prince of the Aire; then rising from his Grave
Spoild Principalities and Powers, triumpht
In open shew, and with ascention bright
Captivity led captive through the Aire,
The Realme it self of Satan long usurpt,
Whom he shall tread at last under our feet;
Eevn hee who now foretold his fatal bruise.

Thy forrow I will greatly multiplie
By thy Conception; Childern thou shalt bring In sorrow forth, and to thy Husbands will Thine shall submit, hee over thee shall rule.

And to the Woman thus his Sentence turn'd.

On Adam last thus judgement he pronounc'd.

Purfues

Pursues me still, least all I cannot die, Least that pure breath of Life, the Spirit of Man Which God inspir'd, cannot together perish With this corporeal Clod; then in the Grave, Or in some other dismal place, who knows But I shall die a living Death? O thought Horrid, if true! yet why? it was but breath Of Life that finn'd; what dies but what had life 790 And fin? the Bodie properly hath neither. All of me then thall die : let this appeale The doubt, fince humane reach no further knows. For though the Lord of all be infinite, Is his wrauth alfo? be it, man is not fo, But mortal doom'd. How can he exercise Wrath without end on Man whom Death must end? Can he make deathless Death? that were to make Strange contradiction, which to God himfelf Impossible is held, as Argument 800 Of weakness, not of Power. Will he, draw out, For angers fake, finite to infinite in punish man, to fatisfie his rigour Satisfi'd nevery that were to extend His Sentence beyond dust and Natures Law By which all Caufes elfe according still To the reception of thir matter act, Not to th' extent of thir own Spheare. But fay That Death be not one ftroak, as I suppos'd, Bereaving sense, but endless miserie 810 From this day onward, which I feel begun Both in me, and without me, and fo last To perpetuitie; Ay me, that fear Comes thundring back with dreadful revolution Nn

On my defensless head; both Death and I Amfound Eternal, and incorporate both, Nor I on my part fingle, in mee all Posteritie stands curst: Fair Patrimonie That I must leave ye, Sons 5 O were I able 820 To waste it all my felf, and leave ye none! So disinherited how would ye bless Me now your Curse! Ab, why should all mankind For one mans fault thus guiltless be condemn'd. If guiltless? But from mee what can proceed, But all corrupt, both Mind and Will depray'd, Not to do onely, but to will the fame. With me? how can they acquitted frand In fight of God ? Him after all Disputes Forc't I absolve: all my evalions vain 830 And reasonings, though through Mazes, lead me still But to my own conviction : first and last On mee, mee onely, as the fourfe and fpring Of all corruption, all the blame lights due; So might the wrauth. Fond with I could thou fup-That burden heavier then the Earth to bear, (port Then all the World much heavier, though divided With that bad Woman? Whol-

Wholfers and coof, and mild, but with black Air Accompanied, with damps and dreadful gloom, Which to his evil Conscience represented 850 All things with double terror: On the ground Outstretche he lay, on the cold ground, and oft Curs'd his Crestion, Death as oft accus'd Of tardie execution, fince denounc's The day of his offence. Why comes not Death, Said hee, with one thrice acceptable froke To end me ? Shall Truth fail to keep her word, Justice Divine not half'n to be just # But Death comes not at call, Justice Divine Mends not her flowest pace for prayers or cries. O Woods, O Fountains, Hillocks, Dales and Bowrs, VVith other echo late I taught your Shades To answer, and resound farr other Song. VV hom thus afflicted when fad Eve beheld, Defolate where the fate, approaching nigh, Soft weeds to his fierce passion the affay'd: But her with flern regard he thus repell'd. To over-reach, but with the Serpent meeting 880 Fool'd and beguil'd, by him thou, I by thee, To trust thee from my side, imagin'd wife, Constant, mature, proof against all affaults, And understood not all was but a shew Rather then folid vertu, all but a Rib Crooked by nature, bent, as now appears, More to the part finister from me drawn, Well if thrown out, as supernumerarie To my just number found. O why did God. Creator wife, that peopl'd highelt Heav'n 890 With Spirits Masculine, create at last This noveltie on Earth, this fair defect Of Nature, and not fill the World at once With Men as Angels without Feminine, Or find some other way to generate Mankind? this mischief had not then befall'n. And more that shall befall, innumerable Disturbances on Earth through Femal fnares, And straight conjunction with this Sex : for either He never shall find out fit Mate, but such 900 As some misfortune brings bim, or mistake, Or whom he withes most shall seldom gain Through her perverseness, but shall see her gaind By a farr worfe, or if the love, withheld By Parents, or his happiest choice too late Shall meet, alreadie linkt and Wedlock-bound To a fell Adversarie, his hate or shame : Which infinite calamitie shall cause To Humane life, and houshold peace confound. And

And treffes all diforderd, at his feet Fell humble, and imbracing them, befaught His peace, and thus proceeded in her plaint. Forfake me not thus, Adam, witness Heav'n What love fincere, and reverence in my heart beare thee, and unweeting have offended, Unhappilie deceav'd; thy suppliant I beg, and clasp thy knees; bereave me not, Whereon I live, thy gentle looks, thy aid, 920 Thy counsel in this uttermost distress, My onely strength and stay : forlorn of thee, Whither shall I betake me, where subsist? While yet we live, scarse one short hour perhaps, Between us two let there be peace, both joyning, As joyn'd in injuries, one enmitie Against a Foe by doom express assign'd us, That cruel Serpent: On me exercise not Thy hatred for this miserie befall'n, On me already loft, mee then thy felf More miserable; both have fin'd, but thou 930 Against God onely, I against God and thee, And to the place of judgement will return, There with my cries importune Heaven, that all The fentence from thy head remov'd may light On me, fole cause to thee of all this woe, Mee mee onely just object of his ire. She ended weeping, and her lowlie plight, Immoveable till peace obtain'd from fault Acknowledg'd and deplor'd, in Adam wraught 940 Commisferation 3 soon his heart relented Towards her, his life fo late and fole delight, Now at his feet submissive in distress, CreaCreature so faire his reconcilement feeking, His counsel whom the had displeas'd, his aide; As one disarm'd, his anger all he lost, And thus with peaceful words uprais'd her soon.

Unwarie, and too defirous, as before,
So now of what thou knowst not, who defirst
The punishment all on thy felf; alas,
Beare thine own first, ill able to fustaine
His full wrauth whose thou feelst as yet lest part,
And my displeasure bearst so ill. If Prayers
Could alter high Decrees, I to that place
Would speed before thee, and be louder heard,
That on my head all might be visited,

Thy frailtie and infirmer Sex forgiv'n,
To me committed and by me expos'd.
But rife, let us no more contend, for blame
Each other, blam'd enough elfewhere, but strive
In offices of Love, how we may light'n
Each others burden in our share of woe;

Since this days Death denounc't, if ought I fee, Will prove no fudden, but a flow-pac't evill, A long days dying to augment our paine, And to our Seed (O haples Seed!) deriv'd.

To whom thus Eve, recovering heart, repli'd.

Adam, by fad experiment I know

How little weight my words with thee can finde,
Found fo erroneous, thence by just event

Found fo unfortunate; nevertheless,
Restor'd by thee, vile as I am, to place
Of new acceptance, hopeful to regaine
Thy Love, the sole contentment of my heart.

Living or dying from thee I will not hide

What

What thoughts in my unquiet brest are ris'n, Tending to fum relief of our extremes, Or end, though sharp and fad, yet tolerable, As in our evils, and of easier choice. If care of our descent perplex us most, 980 Which must be born to certain woe, devourd By Death at last, and miserable it is To be to others cause of misery, Our own begotten, and of our Loines to bring Into this curfed World a woful Race, That after wretched Life must be at last Food for fo foule a Monster, in thy power It lies, yet ere Conception to prevent The Race unbleft, to being yet unbegot. Childless thou art, Childless remaine : So Death shall be deceav'd his glut, and with us two 1990 Be forc'd to fatisfie his Ray nous Maw. But if thou judge it hard and difficult, Conversing, looking, loving, to abstain From Loves due Rites, Nuptial embraces sweet, And with defire to languish without hope, Before the present object languishing With like defire, which would be miferie And torment less then none of what we dread, Then both our felves and Seed at once to free From what we fear for both, let us make thort, Let us feek Death, or hee not found, fupply Withour own hands his Office on our felves; Why stand we longer shivering under feares, That shew no end but Death, and have the power, Of many wayes to die the shortest chooling, Destruction

Destruction with destruction to destroy.

She ended heer, or vehement despaire
Broke off the rest; so much of Death her thoughts
Had entertaind, as di'd her Cheeks with pale.
But Adam with such counsel nothing sway'd,
To better hopes his more attentive minde
Labouring had rais'd, and thus to Eve repli'd.

To argue in thee fomthing more fublime
And excellent then what thy minde contemnes;
But felf-destruction therefore faught, refutes
That excellence thought in thee, and implies,
Not thy contempt, but anguish and regret
For loss of life and pleasure overlov'd.
Or if thou covet death, as utmost end
Of miserie, so thinking to evade

Of miserie, so thinking to evade
The penaltie pronounc't, doubt not but God
Hath wiselier arm'd his vengeful ire then so
To be forestall'd; much more I fear least Death
So snatcht will not exempt us from the paine
We are by doom to pay; rather such acts
Of contumacie will provoke the highest
To make death in us live: Then let us seek Som safer resolution, which methinks
I have in view, calling to minde with heed

Part of our Sentence, that thy Seed shall bruise
The Scrpents head; piteous amends, unless Be meant; whom I conjecture, our grand Foe satan, who in the Serpent hath contriv'd
Against us this deceit: to crush his head
Would be revenge indeed; which will be lost

He ceas'd; and th' Archangelic Power prepar'd For swift descent, with him the Cohort bright Of watchful Cherubim; four faces each Had, like a double Janus, all thir chape 130 Spangl'd with eyes more numerous then those Of Argus, and more wakeful then to drouze, Charm'd with Arcadian Pipe, the Pastoral Reed Of Hermes, or his opiate Rod. Mean while To refalute the World with facred Light Leucothea wak'd, and with fresh dews imbalmd The Earth, when Adam and first Matron Eve Had ended now thir Orisons, and found, Strength added from above, new hope to spring Out of despaire, joy, but with fear yet linkt; Which thus to Eve his welcome words renewd ..

Eve, eafily may Faith admit, that all

The good which we enjoy, from Heav'n descends

But that from us ought should ascend to Heav'n So prevalent as to concerne the mind Of God high-bleft, or to incline his will, Hard to belief may feem; yet this will Prayer, Or one fort figh of humane breath, up-borne Ev'nto the Seat of God. For fince I faught By Prayer th' offended Deitie to appeale, 150 Kneel'd and before him humbl'd all my heart, Methought I faw him placable and mild, Bending his eare; perswasion in me grew That I was heard with favour ; peace returnd Home to my breft, and to my memorie His promise, that thy Seed shall bruise our Foe; Which then not minded in difmay, yet now Affores me that the bitterness of death Is past, and we shall live. Whence Haile to thee, Eve rightly call'd, Mother of all Mankind, 160 Mother of all things living, fince by thee Man is to live, and all things live for Man. To whom thus Eve with fad demeanour meek. Ill worthie I fuch title should belong To me transgressour, who for thee ordaind A help, became thy fnare; to mee reproach Rather belongs, distrust and all dispraise: But infinite in pardon was my Judge, That I who first brought Death on all, am grac't The fourse of life; next favourable thou, 170 Who highly thus to entitle me voutfafft, Farr other name deferving. But the Field To labour calls us now with fweat impos'd, Though after fleepless Night; for fee the Morn,

Pρ

All unconcern'd with our unrest, begins

Her

Her rosie progress smiling; let us forth,
I never from thy side henceforth to stray,
Wherere our days work lies, though now enjoind
Laborious, till day droop; while here we dwell,
What can be to ilsom in these pleasant Walkes?
Here let us live, though in fall'n state, content.

So spake, so wish'd much-humbs'd Eve, but Fate Subscrib'd not; Nature first gave Signs, imprest On Bird, Beast, Aire, Aire suddenly eclips'd After short blush of Morn; night in her sight. The Bird of Jove, stoopt from his aerie tour, Two Birds of gayest plume before him drove: Down from a Hill the Beast that reigns in Woods, First Hunter then, pursu'd a gentle brace, Goodliest of all the Forrest, Hart and Hinde; Direct to th' Eastern Gate was bent thir slight.

Adam observ'd, and with his Eye the chase Pursuing, not unmov'd to Eve thus spake.

O Eve, some furder change awaits us nigh,
Which Heav'n by these mure signs in Nature shews
Forerunners of his purpose, orto warn
Us haply too secure of our discharge
From penaltie, because from death releast
Some days; how long, and what till then our life,
Who knows, or more then this, that we are dust,
And thither must return and be no more.

And thither must return and be no more.

Not in his shape Celestial, but as Man
Clad to meet Man; over his sucid Armes
A militarie Vest of purple flowd
Livelier then Melibean, or the graine
Of Sarra, worn by Kings and Hero's old
In time of Truce; Iris had dipt the wooff;
His starrie Helme unbuckl'd shew'd him prime
In Manhood where Youth ended; by his side
As in a glistering Zodiac hung the Sword,
Satans dire dread, and in his hand the Spear.
Adam bowd low, hee Kingly from his State
Inclin'd not, but his coming thus declar'd.

Adam, Heavins high beheft no Preface needs: Sufficient that thy Prayers are heard, and Death, Then due by sentence when thou didst transgress, Defeated of his seisure many dayes Giv'n thee of Grace, wherein thou may'st repent, And one bad act with many deeds well done. Mayst cover: well may then thy Lord appeas'd Redeem thee quite from Deaths rapacious claime; But longer in this Paradise to dwell 260 Permits not; to remove thee I am come, And fend thee from the Garden forth to till The ground whence thou wast tak'n, fitter Soile.

He added not, for Adam at the newes
Heart-strook with chilling gripe of forrow stood,
That all his senses bound; Eve, who unseen
Yet all had heard, with audible lament
Discover'd soon the place of her retire.

O unexspected stroke, worse then of Death!
Must I thus leave thee Paradise? thus leave.
Then Native Soils, these bases Walks and Shades

270 Thee Native Soile, these happie Walks and Shades,

Fit haunt of Gods? where I had hope to spend. Quiet though fad, the respit of that day That must be mortal to us both. O flours. That never will in other Climate grow, My early vifitation, and my laft At Eev'n, which I bred up with tender hand From the first opining bud, and gave ye Names, Who now shall reare ye to the Sun, or ranke Your Tribes, andwater from th' ambrolial Fount? Thee laftly nuptial Bowre, by mee adornd 280 With what to fight or finell was fweet; from thee How shall I part, and whither wander down Into a lower World, to this obscure And wilde, how shall we breath in other Aire Less pure, accustomd to immortal Fruits? Whom thus the Angel interrupted milde. Lament not Egg, but patiently religne What justly thou hast lost ; nor fet thy heart, Thus over fond, on that which is not thine; Thy going is not lonely, with thee goes 290 Thy Husband, him to follow thou art bound; Where he abides, think there thy native foile. Adam by this from the cold sudden damp Recovering, and his scatterd spirits returnd. To Michael thus his humble words addressd. Celestial, whether among the Thrones, or nam'd Of them the Highest, for such of shape may feem Prince above Princes, gently haft thou tould: Thy message, which might else in telling wound, And in performing end us; what belides 300 Of forrow and dejection and despair Our frailtie can fustain, thy tidings bring,

Departure from this happy place, our sweet Recess, and onely consolation left Familiar to our eyes, all places elfe Inhospitable appeer and desolate, Nor knowing us nor known: and if by prayer Inceffant I could hope to change the will Of him who all things can, I would not ceafe 310 To wearie him with my affiduous cries : But prayer against his absolute Decree No more availes then breath against the winde, Blown stifling back on him that breaths it forth: Therefore to his great bidding I submit. This most afflicts me, that departing hence, As from his face I shall be hid, deprive His bleffed count nance; here I could frequent, With worship, place by place where he voutsaf'd Presence Divine, and to my Sons selate 5 On this Mount he appeard, under this Tree Stood visible, among these Pines his voice I heard, here with him at this Fountain talk'd: So many grateful Altars I would reare Of graftie Terfe, and pile up every Stone Of lustre from the brook, in memorie, Or monument to Ages, and thereon Offer sweet smelling Gumms & Fruits and Flours: In yonder nether World where shall I feek His bright appearances, or footflep trace? 330 For though I fled him angrie, yet recall'd To life prolongd and promisd Race, I now Gladly behold though but his utmost skirts Of glory, and farr off his steps adore. To whom thus Michael with regard benigne.

Adam,

Adam, thou know'ft Heav'n his, and all the Earth. Not this Rock onely; his Omnipresence fills Land, Sea, and Aire, and every kinde that lives, Fomented by his virtual power and warmd: All th' Earth he gave thee to possess and rule, No despicable gift; surmise not then 340 His presence to these narrow bounds confin'd Of Paradise or Eden: this had been Perhaps thy Capital Seate, from whence had fored All generations, and had hither come From all the ends of th' Earth, to celebrate And reverence thee thir great Progenitor. But this præeminence thou hast lost, brought down To dwell on eeven ground now with thy Sons: Yet doubt not but in Vallie and in Plaine God is as here, and will be found alike 350 Prefent, and of his prefence many a figne Still following thee, Itill compaffing thee round With goodness and paternal Love, his Face Express, and of his steps the track Divine. Which that thou mayft beleeve, and be confirmed. Ere thou from hence depart, know I am fent To shew thee what shall come in future dayes To thee and to thy Ofspring ; good with bad Expect to hear, Supernal Grace contending 360 With finfulness of Men; thereby to learn True patience, and to temper joy with fear And pious forrow, equally enur'd By moderation either flate to beare, Prosperous or adverse: so shalt thou lead Safest thy life, and best prepar'd endure Thy mortal passage when it comes. This

This Hill; let Eve (for I have drencht her eyes)
Here fleep below while thou to forelight wak'lt,
As once thou flepft, while Shee to life was formd.

To whom thus Adam gratefully repli'd. 370 Ascend, I follow thee, safe Guide, the path Thou lead'st me, and to the hand of Heav'n submit, However chaft'ning, to the evil turne My obvious breast, arming to overcom By fuffering, and earne reft from labour won, If so I may attain. So both ascend In the Visions of God : It was a Hill Of Paradile the highest, from whose top The Hemisphere of Earth in cleerest Ken 380 Stretcht out to amplest reach of prospect lay. So deep the power of these Ingredients pierc'd. Eevn to the immost feat of mental fight, That Adam now enforc't to close his eyes, Sunk down and all his Spirits became intranst: But him the gentle Angel by the hand Soon rais'd, and his attention thus recall'd. Adam, now ope thine eyes, and first behold Th' effects which thy original crime hath wrought In some to spring from thee, who never touch'd Th' excepted Tree, nor with the Snake conspir'd, Nor finn'd thy fin, yet from that fin derive Corruption to bring forth more violent deeds. His eyes he op'nd, and beheld a field, Part arable and tilth, whereon were Sheaves

New reapt, the other part sheep-walks and foulds a Ith' midft an Altar as the Land-mark frood Ruftic, of graffie ford; thither anon A sweatie Reaper from his Tillage brought First Fruits, the green Eare, and the vellow Sheaf. Uncull'd, as came to hand; a Shepherd next More meek came with the Firstlings of his Flock Choicest and best's then facrificing, laid The Inwards and thir fat, with Incense frew'd. On the cleft Wood, and all due Rites perform'd. His Offring foon propitions Fire from Heav'n Confum'd with nimble glance, and grateful freames The others not, for his was not fincere; Whereat hee inlie rag'd, and as they talk'd, Smote him into the Midriff with a stone That best out life; he fell, and deadly pale

O Teacher, fome great mischief hath befall'n To that meek man, who well had facrific'd;

Groand out his Soul with gushing bloud effus'd.

Much at that fight was Adam in his heart

Is Pictie thus and pure Devotion paid?

T' whom Michael thus, hee also mov'd, repli'd.

These two are Brethren, Adam, and to come
Out of thy loyns; th' unjust the just hath Bain,
For envie that his Brothers Offering found
From Heav'n acceptance; but the bloodie Fact
Will be aveng'd, and th' others Faith approv'd
Loose no reward, though here thou see him die, 460 Rowling in dust and gote. To which our Sire.

Alas, both for the deed and for the cause !

But have I now seen Death? Is this the way

I must return to native dust? O sight Of terrour, foul and ugly to behold, Horrid to think, how horrible to feel!

To whom thus Michael. Death thou hast feen In his first shape on man; but many shapes Of Death, and many are the wayes that lead To his grim Cave, all dismal; yet to sense More terrible at th' entrance then within. 470 Some, as thou faw'ft, by violent stroke shall die, By Fire, Flood, Famin, by Intemperance more In Meats and Drinks, which on the Earth thal bring Diseases dire, of which a monstrous crew Before thee shall appear; that thou mayst know What miseric th' inabstinence of Eve Shall bring on men. Immediately a place Before his eyes appeard, fad, noyfom, dark, A Lazar-house it seemd, wherein were laid 480 Numbers of all difeas'd, all maladies Of galfly Spalin, or racking torture, qualmes Of heart-fick Agonie, all feavorous kinds, Convulsions, Epilepsies, fierce Catarrhs, Intestin Stone and Ulcer, Colic pangs, Dropfies, and Althma's, and Joint-racking Rheums. Dire was the tolling, deep the groans, despair Tended the fick bufieft from Couch to Couch s And over them triumphant Death his Dart Shook, but delaid to frike, though oft invok't With yows, as thir chief good, and final hope. 490 Sight so deform what heart of Rock could long Drie-ey'd behold Adam could not, but wept, Though not of Woman born; compation quell'd His belt of Man, and gave him up to-tears

A space, till firmer thoughts restraind excess,
And scarce recovering words his plaint renew'd.

O miserable Mankind, to what fall
Degraded, to what wretched state reserv'd!
Better end heer unborn. Why is life giv'n
To be thus wrested from us? rather why
Obtruded on us thus? who if we knew
What we receive, would either not accept
Life offer'd, or soon beg to lay it down,
Glad to be so dismiss in peace. Can thus
Th' Image of God in man created once
So goodly and erect, though faultie since,
To such unsightly sufferings be debas't
Under inhuman pains? Why should not Man,

Retaining still Divine similitude
In part, from such deformities be free,
And for his Makers Image sake exempt?

Thir Makers Image, answerd Michael, then Forsook them, when themselves they villisted To serve ungovern'd appetite, and took His Image whom they serv'd, a brutish vice, Inductive mainly to the sin of Eve.

Therefore so abject is thir punishment, Dissiguring not Gods likeness, but thir own, Or if his likeness, by the sselves defact

To loathfom fickness, worthily, fince they Gods Image did not reverence in themselves.

I yeild it just, said Adam, and submit.
But is there yet no other way, besides
These painful passages, how we may come of
To Death, and mix with our constructed dust?

There

There is, faid Michael, if thou well observe The rule of not too much, by temperance taught In what thou eatst and drinkst, seeking from thence Due nourithment, not gluttonous delight, 530 Till many years over thy head return: So mailt thou live, till like ripe Fruit thou drop Into thy Mothers lap, or be with eafe Gatherd, not harfhly pluckt, for death mature : This is old age; but then thou must outlive Thy youth, thy strength, thy beauty, which will To witherd weak & graysthy Senses then (change Obtule, all rafte of pleasure must forgoe, To what thou halt, and for the Aire of youth Hopeful and cheerful, in thy blood will reigne 540 A melancholly damp of cold and dry To waigh thy spirits down, and last consume The Balme of Life. To whom our Ancestor. Henceforth I flie not Death, nor would prolong Life much, bent rather how I may be quit Fairest and easiest of this combrous charge, Which I must keep till my appointed day Of rendring up. Michael to him repli'd. Nor love thy Life, nor hate; but what thou livst Live well, how long or thort permit to Heav'n: 550 And now prepare thee for another fight.

He looked and faw a spacious Plaine, whereon Were Tents of various hue; by some were herds Of Cattel grazing: others, whence the sound Of Instruments that made melodious chime Was heard, of Harp and Organ; and who mooved Thir stops and shords was seen: his volant touch Instinct through all proportions low and high

Soft amorous Ditties, and in dance came on:
The Men though grave, ey'd them, and let thir eyes
Rove without rein, till in the amorous Net

True opener of mine eyes, prime Angel blest,
Much better feems this Vision, and more hope
Of peaceful dayes portends, then those two past;
Those were of hate and death, or pain much worse,

Here Nature feems fulfilld in all her ends.

To whom thus Michael. Judg not what is best By pleasure, though to Nature seeming meet, Created, as thou art, to nobler end Holic and pure, conformitie divine.

Those Tents thou fawit so pleafant, were the Tents Of wickedness, wherein shall dwell his Race Who flew his Brother; fludious they appere Of Ares that polish Life, Inventers rare, Unmindful of thir Maker, though his Spirit Taught them, but they his gifts acknowledg'd none. In other part the scepter'd Haralds call To Council in the Citie Gates: anon Grey-headed men and grave, with Warriours mixt, Assemble, and Harangues are heard, but soon In factious opposition, till at last Of middle Age one rising, eminent In wise deport, spake much of Right and Wrong, Of Justice, of Religion, Truth and Peace, And Judgement from above: him old and young Exploded, and had seiz'd with violent hands,	660
Had not a Cloud descending snatch'd him thence Unseen amid the throng: so violence Proceeded, and Oppression, and Sword-Law Through all the Plain, and refuge none was found. Adam was all in tears, and to his guide Lamenting turnd full sad; O what are these, Deaths Ministers, not Men, who thus deal Death Inhumanly to men, and multiply Ten thousand fould the sin of him who slew His Brother; for of whom such massacher	670

And what most merits fame in silence hid.
But hee the seventh from thee, whom thou beheldst
The onely righteous in a World perverse,
And therefore hated, therefore so beset
With Foes for daring single to be just,

To judge them with his Saints: Him the most High Rapt in a balmie Cloud with winged Steeds
Did, as thou sawst, receave, to walk with God High in Salvation and the Climes of bliss,
Exempt from Death; to shew thee what reward Awaits the good, the rest what punishment;
Which now direct thine eyes and soon behold.
He look'd, & saw the face of things quite chang'd;
The brazen Throat of Warr had ceast to roar.

At length a Reverend Sire among them came,

Triumphs

Triumphs or Festivals, and to them preachd 7 20 Conversion and Repentance, as to Souls In prison under Judgements imminent: But all in vain: which when he faw, he ceas'd Contending, and remov'd his Tents farr off; Then from the Mountain hewing Timber tall, Began to build a Vessel of huge bulk, Measur'd by Cubit, length, & breadth, and highth, Scheard round with Pitch, and in the fide a dore Contriv'd, and of provisions laid in large For Man and Beaft : when loe a wonder ftrange ! Of everie Beaft, and Bird, and Infect small 730 Came seavens, and pairs, and enterd in, as taught Thir order; last the Sire, and his three Sons With thir four Wivesand God made fast the dore. Meanwhile the Southwind role, & with black wings Wide hovering, all the Clouds together drove From under Heav'n 3 the Hills to their Supplie Vapour, and Exhalation dusk and moift, Sent up amain; and now the thick'nd Skie Like a dark Ceeling stood; down rush'd the Rain Impetuous, and continu'd till the Earth 740 No more was feen; the floating Veffel fwum Uplifted; and secure with beaked prow Rode ti'ting o're the Waves, all dwellings else Flood overwhelmd, and them with all thir pomp Deep under water rould; Sea cover'd Sea, Sea without thoar; and inthir Palaces Where luxurie late reign'd, Sea-monsters whelp'd And stabl'd; of Mankind, so numerous late, All left, in one fin ill bottom fwum imbark't. The end of all thy Ofspring, end fo fad, Depopulation; thee another Floud,
Of tears and forrow a Floud thee also drown'd,
And funk thee as thy Sons; till gently reard
By th' Angel, on thy feet thou stoodst at last,
Though comfortless, as when a Father mourns
His Childern, all in view destroyd at once;
And scarce to th' Angel utterdst thus thy plaint.

O Visions ill foreseen! better had I
Liv'd ignorant of future, so had borne
My part of evil onely, each dayes lot
Anough to bear; those now, that were dispense
The burd'n of many Ages, on me light
At once, by my foreknowledge gaining Birth
Abortive, to torment me ere thir being,
With thought that they must be. Let no man seek Henceforth to be foretold what shall befall
Him or his Childern, evil he may be sure,
Which neither his foreknowing can prevent,

And hee the future evil shall no less
In apprehension then in substance feel
Grievous to bear: but that care now is past,
Man is not whom to warne: those few escap't
Famin and anguish will at last consume
Wandring that watrie Desert: I had hope
When violence was ceas't, and Warr on Earth,
All would have then gon well, peace would have
With length of happy days the race of man; (crownd
But I was farr deceav'd; for now I see 780 Peace to corrupt no less then Warr to waste. How comes it thus? unfould, Celestial Guide, And whether here the Race of man will end.

To

To whom thus Michael, Those whom last thou fawitt In triumph and luxurious wealth, are they First seen in acts of prowess eminent And great exploits, but of true vertu void ; Who having spilt much blood, and don much waste Subduing Nations, and achieve thereby Fame in the World, high titles, and rich prey, Shall change thir courfe to pleasure, ease, and sloth, 790 Surfet, and lust, till wantonness and pride Raise out of friendship hostil deeds in Peace. The conquerd alfo, and enflav'd by Warr Shall with thir freedom loft all vertu loofe And feare of God, from whom thir pietie feign'd In tharp contest of Battel found no aide Against invaders a therefore coold in zeale Thenceforth shall practice how to live fecure. Worldlie or dissolute, on what thir Lords Shall leave them to enjoy; for th' Earth shall bear 800 More then anough, that temperance may be tri'd: So all shall turn degenerate, all deprav'd, Justice and Temperance, Truth and Faith forgot; One Man except, the onely Son of light In a dark Age, against example good, Against allurement, custom, and a World Offended; fearless of reproach and scorn, Or violence, bee of thir wicked wayes Shall them admonish, and before them set The paths of righteousness, how much more safe, 810 And full of peace, denouncing wrauth to come On thir impenitence; and shall returne Of them derided, but of God observd The one just Man alive; by his command Shall

Shall build a wondrous Ark, as thou beheldft, To fave himfelf and houshold from amidst A World devote to universal rack. No fooner hee with them of Man and Beaft Select for life shall in the Ark be lodg'd, And shelterd round, but all the Cataracts Of Heav'n let open on the Earth shall powre Raine day and night, all fountaines of the Deep Broke up, shall heave the Ocean to usurp Beyond all bounds, till inundation rife Above the highest Hills : then shall this Mount Of Paradife by might of Waves be moovd Out of his place, pushd by the horned floud, With all his verdure spoil'd, and Trees adrift Down the great River to the op'ning Gulf, 830 And there take root an Iland falt and bare. The haunt of Seales and Orcs, and Sea mews clang. To teach thee that God attributes to place No fanctitie, if none be thither brought By Men who there frequent, or therein dwell. And now what further shall ensue, behold. He lookd, and faw the Ark hull on the floud, Which now abated, for the Clouds were fled, Drivn by a keen North-winde, that blowing drie Wrinkl'd the face of Deluge, as decai'd; And the cleer Sun on his wide watrie Glass Gaz'd hot, and of the fresh Wave largely drew, As after thirst, which made thir flowing thrink From Randing lake to tripping ebbe, that stole With foft foot towards the deep, who now had is Sluces, as the Heav'n his windows thut. To whom th' Archangel. Dextroully thou aim'st; 880 So willingly doth God remit his Ire, Though late repenting him of Man depray'd, Griev'd at his heart, when looking down he faw. The whole Earth fill'd with violence, and all flesh Corrupting each thirway; yet those remoov'd, Such grace shall one just Man find in his fight, That he relents, not to blot out mankind, And makes a Covenant never to destroy The Earth again by flood, nor let the Sea Surpass his bounds, nor Rain to drown the World With Man therein or Beaft; but when he brings Over the Earth a Cloud, will therein fet His triple-colour'd Bow, whereon to look And call to mind his Cov'nant: Day and Night, Seed time and Harvest, Heat and hoary Frost Shall hold thir course, till fire purge all things new, Both Heav'n and Earth, wherein the just shall dwell. Thus thou hast seen one World begin and end; And Man as from a fecond stock proceed. Much thou hast yet to fee, but I perceave 900 Thy mortal fight to faile; objects divine Must needs impaire and wearie human sense: Henceforth what is to com I will relate, Thou therefore give due audience, and attend. This fecond fourf of Men, while yet but few; And while the dread of judgement past remains Fresh in thir mindes, fearing the Deitie, With some regard to what is just and right Shall lead thir lives, and multiplie apace, Labouring the foile, and reaping plenteous crop, 910 Corn wine and oyle; and from the herd or flock,

Oft facrificing Bullock, Lamb, or Kid, With large Wine-offerings pour'd, and facred Fealt Shal frend thir dayes in joy unblam'd, and dwell Long time in peace by Families and Tribes wol Ol Under paternal rule; till one shall rife Of proud ambitious heart, who not content With fair equalitie, fraternal state, Will arrogate Dominion undeferv'd Over his brethren, and quite disposses Concord and law of Nature from the Earth ; Hunting (and Men not Beafts shall be his game) With Warr and hostile snare such as refuse Subjection to his Empire tyrannous: A mightie Hunter thence he fhall be ftyl'd Before the Lord, as in despite of Heav'n, Or from Heavin claming fecond Sovrantie; And from Rebellion shall derive his name, Though of Rebellion others he accuse. Hee with a crew, whom like Ambition joyns With him or under him to tyrannize, 930 Marching from Eden towards the Welt, shall finde The Plain, wherein a black biruminous gurge Boiles.out from under ground, the mouth of Hell; Of Brick, and of that stuff they cast to build A Citie & Towre, whose top may reach to Heav'n And get themselves a name, least far disperst In foraign Lands thir memorie be loft, Regardless whether good or evil fame. But God who oft descends to visit men Unfeen, and through thir habitations walks To mark thir doings, them beholding foon, Comes down to fee thir Citie, ere the Tower Obstruct Sſ

Obstruct Heav'n Towrs, and in derision sets Upon thir Tongues a various Spirit to rafe Quite out thir Native Language, and instead To fow a jangling noise of words unknown: Forthwith a hideous gabble rifes loud Among the Builders; each to other calls Not understood, till hoarse, and all in rage, As mockt they ftorm; great laughter was in Heav'n And looking down, to fee the hubbub strange And hear the din; thus was the building left Ridiculous, and the work Confusion nam'd. Whereto thus Adam fatherly displeas'd. O execrable Son fo to aspire Above his Brethren, to himself affuming Authoritie usurpt, from God not giv'n: He gave us onely over Beaft, Fift, Fowl Dominion absolute; that right we hold By his donation; but Man over men He made not Lord; fuch title to himfelf Referving, human left from human free. But this Usurper his encroachment proud Stayes not on Man; to God his Tower intends Siege and defiance: Wretched man! what food Will he convey up thither to fustain Himself and his rash Armie, where thin Aire. Above the Clouds will pine his entrails groß, And famish bim of Breath, if not of Bread? To whom thus Michael. Therefore fince hee permits Within himself unworthie Powers to reign Over free Reason, God in Judgement just Subjects him from without to violent Lords; Who oft as undefervedly enthrall His outward freedom: Tyrannie must be, Though to the Tyrant thereby no excuse. Yet somtimes Nations will decline so low From vertue, which is reason, that no wrong, But Justice, and some fatal curse annext 990 Deprives them of thir outward libertie, Thir inward loft: Witness th' irreverent Son Of him who built the Ark, who for the thame Don to his Father, heard this heavie curfe. Shall

Shall in his Seed be bleffed; by that Seed Is meant thy great deliverer, who shall bruise 1040 The Serpents head; whereof to thee anon Plainlier shall be reveald. This Patriarch blest, Whom faithful Abraham due time shall call, A Son, and of his Son a Grand-childe leaves, Like him in faith, in wisdom, and renown ; The Grandchilde with twelve Sons increast, departs From Canaan, to a Land hereafter call'd Egypt, divided by the River Nile; See where it flows, difgorging at seaven mouthes Into the Sea: to fojourn in that Land 1050 He comes invited by a yonger Son In time of dearth, a Son whose worthy deeds Raife him to be the fecond in that Realme Of Pharao: there he dies, and leaves his Race Growing into a Nation, and now grown Suspected to a sequent King, who seeks To ftop thir overgrowth, as inmate guests Too numerous; whence of guelts he makes them Inhospitably, and kills thir infant Males: Till by two brethren (those two brethren call 1060 Moses and Aaron) sent from God to claime His people from enthralment, they return With glory and spoile back to thir promis'd Land. But first the lawless Tyrant, who denies To know thir God, or message to regard, Must be compelled by Signes and Judgements dire ; To blood unshed the Rivers must be turnd, Frogs, Lice and Flies must all his Palace fill With loath'd intrusion, and fill all the land; His Cattel must of Rot and Murren die. 1070 Botches

Botches and blaines must all his flesh imboss. And all his people; Thunder mixt with Haile, Haile mixt with fire must rend th' Egyptian Skie And wheel on th' Earth, devouring where it rouls; What it devours not, Herb, or Fruit, or Graine, A darkfom Cloud of Locusts swarming down Must eat, and on the ground leave nothing green: Darkness must overshadow all his bounds. 1080 Palpable darkness, and blot out three dayes; Last with one midnight stroke all the first-born Of Egypt must lie dead. Thus with ten wounds This River-dragon tam'd at length submits To let his fojourners depart, and oft Humbles his stubborn heart, but still as Ice More hard'nd after thaw, till in his rage Pursuing whom he late dismissd, the Sea Swallows him with his Hoft, but them lets pals As on drie land between two christal walls, Aw'd by the rod of Mofes fo to fland 1090 Divided, till his rescu'd gain thir shoar: Such wondrous power God to his Saint will lend, Though present in his Angel, who shall goe Before them in a Cloud, and Pillar of Fire, By day a Cloud, by night a pillar of Fire, To guide them in thir journey, and remove. Behinde them, while th'obdurat King purfues : All night he will purfue, but his approach Darkness defends between till morning Watch ; Then through the Firey Pillar and the Cloud 1100 God looking forth will trouble all his Hoft And craze thir Chariot wheels: when by command

Mofes once more his potent Rod extends

Over the Sea; the Sea his Rod obeys; On thir imbattelld ranks the Waves return, And overwhelm thir Warr: the Race elect Safe towards Canaan from the shoar advance Through the wilde Defert, not the readiest way, Least entring on the Canaanite allarmd Warr terrifie them inexpert, and feare Return them back to Egypt, choosing rather Inglorious life with fervitudes for life To noble and ignoble is more fweet Untrained in Armes, where rashness leads not on. This also shall they gain by thir delay In the wide Wilderness, there they shall found Thir government, and thir great Senate choose Through the twelve Tribes, to rule by Laws ordaind: God from the Mount of Sinai, whose gray top Shall tremble, he descending, will himself In Thunder Lightning and loud Trumpets found Ordaine them Lawes; part fuch as appertaine To civil Justice, part religious Rites Of facrifice, informing them, by types And shadowes, of that destind Seed to bruise The Serpent, by what meanes he shall achieve Mankinds deliverance. But the voice of God To mortal eare is dreadful; they befeech That Moses might report to them his will, And terror cease; he grants them thir delire, Instructed that to God is no access Without Mediator, whose high Office now Moses in figure beares, to introduce One greater, of whole day he shall foretell, And all the Prophets in thir Age the times

Of great Meffiab shall fing. Thus Laws and Rites Establisht, such delight hath God in Men Obedient to his will, that he voutsafes Among them to fet up his Tabernacle, The holy One with mortal Men to dwell: 1140 By his prescript a Sanctuary is fram'd Of Cedar, overlaid with Gold, therein An Ark, and in the Ark his Testimony, The Records of his Cov'nant, over these A Mercie-feat of Gold between the wings Of two bright Cherubim, before him burn Seaven Lamps as in a Zodiac reprefenting The Heav'nly fires; over the Tent a Cloud Shall rest by Day, a fierie gleame by Night; Save when they journie, and at length they come, 1150 Conducted by his Angel to the Land Promisd to Abraham and his Seed: the reft Were long to tell, how many Battels fought, How many Kings deftroyd, and Kingdoms won, Or how the Sun shall in mid Heav'n frand still A day entire, and Nights due course adjourne, Mans voice commanding, Sun in Gibeon Stand, And thou Moon in the vale of Aialon, Till Israel overcome; so call the third From Abraham, Son of Isaac, and from him 1160 His whole descent, who thus shall Canaan win. Here Adam interpos'd. O fent from Heav'n, Enlightner of my darkness, gracious things Thou hast reveald, those chiefly which concerne Just Abraham and his Seed : now first I finde Mine eyes true opining, and my heart much eas'd,

Highly belov'd, being but the Minister 1200 Of Law, his people into Canaan lead 4 But Joshua whom the Gentiles Jesse call, His Name and Office bearing, who shall quell The adversarie Serpent, and bring back Through the worlds wilderness long wanderd man Safe to eternal Paradife of reft. Meanwhile they in thir earthly Canaen plac't Long time shall dwell and prosper, but when fine National interrupt thir public peace, Provoking God to raise them enemies: 1210 From whom as oft he faves them penitent By Judges first, then under Kings; of whom The fecond, both for pietie renownd And puissant deeds, a promise shall receive Irrevocable, that his Regal Throne For ever shall endure; the like shall fing All Prophecie, That of the Royal Stock Of David (fo I namethis King) thall rife A Son, the Womans Seed to thee foretold, Foretold to Abraham, as in whom shall trust 1220 All Nations, and to Kings foretold, of Kings The last, for of his Reign shall be no end. But first a long succession must ensue, And his next Son for Wealth and Wifdom fam'd. The clouded Ark of God till then in Tents Wandring, shall in a glorious Temple enshrine. There in captivitie he lets them dwell The space of seventie years, then brings them back, Remembring mercie, and his Cov'nane fworn To David Stablishe as the dayes of Heav'n. Returnd from Babylon by leave of Kings Thir Lords, whom God dispos'd, the house of God 1240 They first re-edific, and for a while In mean estate live moderate, till grown In wealth and multitude, factious they grows But full among the Priefts diffention fprings, Men who attend the Altar, and should most Endeavour Peace: thir strife pollution brings Upon the Temple it felf: at last they seife The Scepter, and regard not Davidi Sons, Then loofe it to a stranger, that the true Appinted King Me fish might be born 1250 Barr'd of his right , yet at his Birth a Starr Unfeen before in Heav'n proclaims him com, And guides the Eastern Sages, who enquire His place, to offer Incense, Myrrh, and Gold 3 His place of birth a folemn Angel tells all a To simple Shepherds, keeping watch by night; They gladly thither hafte, and by a Quire Of Iquadrond Angels hear his Carol Jung. A Viegin is his Mother, but his Sire The Power of the most High; he shall ascend The Throne hereditarie, and bound his Reign With earths wide bounds, his glory with the Heav'ns. He

He ceas'd, difcerning Adam with fuch joy Surcharg'd, as had like grief bin dew'd in tears Without the vent of words, which thefe he breathd. O Prophet of glad tidings, finisher Of utmost hope I now clear I understand What oft my steddiest thoughts have searcht in Why our great expediation should be call'd (vain, 1270 The feed of Woman : Virgin Mother, Haile, High in the love of Heav'n, yet from my Lovnes Thou shalt proceed, and from thy Wombthe Son Of God most High; So God with man unites. Needs must the Serpent now his capital bruise Expect with mortal paine: fay where and when Thir fight, what stroke shall bruise the Victors heel. To whom thus Michael: Dream not of thir light, As of a Duel, or the local wounds Of head or heel: not therefore joynes the Son 1280 Manhood to God-head, with more ftrength to foil Thy enemies nor fo as overcome of 7 Satan, whosefall from Heav'n, a deadlier bruife, Difabl'd not to give thee thy deaths wound : Which hee, who comes thy Saviour, shall recure, Not by destroying Satan, but his works In thee and inthy Seed : nor can this be, But by fulfilling that which thou didft want, Obedience to the Law of God, impos'd On penaltie of death, and fuffering death, 1290 The penaitie to thy transgression due, And due to theirs which out of thine will grow: So onely can high Justice rest appaid. The Law of God exact he shall fulfill Both by obedience and by love, though love

Alone fulfill the Laws thy punishment He shall endure by coming in the Flesh To a reproachful life and curfed death, Proclaming Life to all who shall believe In his redemption, and that his obedience Imputed becomes theirs by Faith, his merits 1300 To fave them, not thir own, though legal works. For this he shall live hated, be blasphem'd, Seis'd on by force, judg'd, and to death condemnd A shameful and accurst, naild to the Cross, By his own Nation, flaine for bringing Life; But to the Cross he nailes thy Enemies, The Law that is against thee, and the fins Ofall mankinde, with him there crucifi'd, Never to hurt them more who rightly trust In this his fatisfaction fo he dies, 1310 But foon revives, Death over him no power Shall long usurp; ere the third dawning light Returne, the Starres of Morn shall see him rise Out of his grave, fresh as the dawning light ... Thy ranfom paid, which Man from death redeems, His death for Man, as many as offerd Life Neglect not, and the benefit imbrace By Faith not void of workes: this God-like act Annuls thy doom, the death thou shouldst have dy'd, In fin for ever loft from life; this act 1320 Shall bruise the head of satan, cruth his strength Defeating Sin and Death, his two maine armes, And fix farr deeper in his head thir stings Then temporal death shall bruise the Victors heel, Or theirs whom he redeems, a death like fleep, A gentle wafting to immortal Life. Nor

Nor after refurrection shall he stay Longer on Earth then certaine times to appear To his Disciples, Men who in his Life

To teach all nations what of him they learn'd
And his Salvation, them who shall believe
Baptizing in the profluent streame, the signe
Of washing them from guilt of sin to Life
Pure, and in mind prepar'd, if so befall,
For death, like that which the redeemer dy'd.
All Nations they shall teach; for from that day
Not onely to the Sons of Abrahams Loines
Salvation shall be Preacht, but to the Sons

So in his feed all Nations shall be blest.

Then to the Heav'n of Heav'ns he shall ascend With victory, triumphing through the aire Over his foes and thine; there shall surprise The Serpent, Prince of aire, and drag in Chaines Through all his realme, & there confounded leaves Then enter into glory, and resume His Seat at Gods right hand, exalted high Above all names in Heav'n; and thence shall come,

When this worlds diffolution shall be ripe,
With glory and power to judge both quick & dead,
To judge th' unfaithful dead, but to reward
His faithful, and receave them into bliss,
Whether in Heav'n or Earth, for then the Earth
Shall all be Paradise, far happier place
Then this of Eden, and far happier daies.

So spake th' Archangel Michael, then paus'd, As at the Worlds great period; and our Sire

Baptiz'd, shall them with wondrous gifts endue To speak all Tongues, and do all Miracles, As did thir Lord before them. Thus they win Great numbers of each Nation to receave With joy the tidings brought from Heav'n:at length Thir Ministry perform'd, and race well run, Thir doctrine and thir story written left, They die; but in thir room, as they forewarne, Wolves shall succeed for teachers, grievous Wolves, 1400 Who all the facred mysteries of Heav'n To thir own vile advantages shall turne Of lucre and ambition, and the truth With fuperstitions and traditions taint, Left onely in those written Records pure, Though not but by the Spirit understood. Then shall they seek to avail themselves of names, Places and titles, and with thefe to joine Secular power, though feigning still to act By spiritual, to themselves appropriating. 1410 The Spirit of God, promisd alike and giv'n To all Beleevers ; and from that pretenfe, Spiritual Lawes by carnal power shall force On every conscience & Laws which none shall finde Left them inrould, or what the Spirit within Shall on the heart engrave. What will they then But force the Spirit of Grace it felf, and binde His confort Liberties what, but unbuild His living Temples, built by Faith to Stand, Thir own Faith not anothers : for on Earth 1420 Who again Faith and Conscience can be heard Infallible? yet many will prefume:

How foon hath thy prediction, Seer bleft, Meafur'd this transient World, the Race of time, Till time stand fixt : beyond is all abys, Eternitie, whose end no eye can reach. Greatly instructed I shall hence depart, Greatly in peace of thought, and have my fill Of knowledge, what this veffel can containe; 1450 Beyond which was my folly to aspire. Henceforth I learne, that to obey is best, And love with feare the onely God, to walk As in his presence, ever to observe His

His providence, and on him fole depend,
Merciful over all his works, with good
Still overcoming evil, and by small
Accomplishing great things, by things deemd weak
Subverting worldly strong, and worldly wise
By simply meek; that suffering for Truths sake

Is fortitude to highest victorie,
And to the faithful Death the Gate of Life;
Taught this by his example whom I now
Acknowledge my Redeemer ever blest.

To whom thus also th' Angel last repli'd: This having learnt, thou hast attaind the summe Of wisdom; hope no higher, though all the Starrs Thou knewst by name, and all th' ethereal Powers, All secrets of the deep, all Natures works,

Or works of God in Heav'n, Air, Earth, or Sea,
And all the riches of this World enjoydit,
And all the rule, one Empire; onely add
Deeds to thy knowledge answerable, add Faith,
Add Vertue, Patience, Temperance, add Love,
By name to come call'd Charitie, the soul
Of all the rest: then wist thou not be loath
To leave this Paradise, but shalt possess
A Paradise within thee, happier farr.

Portending good, and all her spirits compos'd To meek submission: thou at season fit Let her with thee partake what thou half heard, Chiefly what may concern her Faith to know, 1490 The great deliverance by her Seed to come (For by the Womans Seed) on all Mankind. That ye may live, which will be many dayes, Both in one Faith unanimous though fad, With cause for evils past, yet much more cheer'd With meditation on the happie end. He ended, and they both descend the Hill; Descended, Adam to the Bowre where Eve Lay fleeping ran before, but found her wak't; And thus with words not fad she him receav'd. 1500 Whence thou returnft & whither wentst, I know; For God is also in sleep, and Dreams advise, Which he hath fent propitious, fome great good Presaging, fince with forrow and hearts distress VVearied I fell afleep: but now lead on; In mee is no delay; with thee to goe, Is to stay here; without thee here to stay, Is to go hence unwilling 3 thou to mee Art all things under Heav'n, all places thou, VVho for my wilful crime art banisht hence. 1510 This further consolation yet secure I carry hence; though all by mee is loft, Such favour l'unworthie am voutlaft, By mee the Promis'd Saed shall all restore. So spake our Mother Eve, and Adam heard VVell pleas'd, but answer'd not; for now too nigh Th' Archangel stood, and from the other Hill To thir fixt Station, all in bright array

Book 10. Paradise lost.

The Cherubim descended; on the ground 1520 Gliding meteorous, as Ev'ning Mift Ris'n from a River o're the marish glides, And gathers ground fast at the Labourers heel Homeward returning. High in Front advanc't, The brandisht Sword of God before them blaz'd Fierce as a Comet; which with torrid heat. And vapour as the Libyan Air adust.
